How to use this 'Introduction to Business Planning' Toolkit

The toolkit provides a basis for your club to develop an 'Introduction to Business' Plan.

This toolkit is designed as a 'one-size-fits-all' resource for clubs within the City of Albany and is likely to require each club/association to modify the resource to best suit their individual needs.

The 'Introduction to Business Planning' Toolkit includes:

- Introduction to Business Planning Workbook
- Simple Strategic Planning template
- Asset Management planning templates
- Financial Management planning templates

Stage 1 involves a committee working through a series of questions within this workbook. Encourage the committee to include representatives who hold different roles within the club to ensure a cross section of interests is catered for in the long term planning approach.

Once these questions have been completed and the group is happy with the outcomes you can then move on to the second stage of this process. The information collected in this Workbook also provides a useful 'ready reference' of key information on the club or association.

Prompts are provided in red, to assist the committee work through the Workbook.

Stage 2 involves transferring the appropriate information into the 'Introduction to Business' Planning templates.

It is important to remember that your club is always changing and your plan needs to be reviewed and updated. It is essential that everyone around the club is familiar with the plan so they can be working together to achieve the common goals.

The City of Albany's Smart Club Officer is more than willing to support your club/ association in either the development of your inaugural business plan, update of an existing plan or provide assistance in the completion of an existing plan.

Background Questions and Directions

Introduction

The role of this document is to simplify the process of developing a Business Plan for your sport or recreation club within the City of Albany. Business plans are a great tool for clubs to plan their long-term viability and develop and maintain their facilities and programs.

Planning helps to:

- Review your clubs background and history,
- Identify where your club is at now and where they would like to be in the future
- Bring order into the hectic business of running your club
- Identify the main goals for your club
- Encourage the members to get involved
- Adjust to changes in the current environment that may have an impact on your club
- Ensure that resources (human, physical and financial) are used effectively
- Assist your club with managing your assets
- Provide clear and transparent directions for 'future proofing' your club
- Build a strong case for funding applications and sponsorship support

What type of planning?

Like many things there is no right or wrong way to prepare a Plan. They can incorporate Strategic Plans, Business Plans and Operational Plans. They can vary from a few pages to a fully laid out document with images, charts and diagrams. They will reflect the size and scope of your organisation as well.

What is a Business Plan?

A Business Plan is a very detailed document that includes all of the information from a Strategic Plan and considerably more information about the business/organisation.

While there is no specific format or contents for a Business Plan (generally this is related to the type of business), in general terms it might contain:

- Title Page – detailing the nature of the document, the name of the organisation, the period of time it relates to, and the date prepared.
- List of Contents – detailing the sections within the document and page references.
- Executive Summary – a broad statement of the background of the organisation, the purpose of the document, what is in it, how it was prepared and what are its intentions.
- Strategic Plan – detailing organisation Mission Statement, Goals/objectives, etc.
- Marketing Plan – details information and research related to market demographics, products and services, price structures, place of delivery of products or services, an analysis of the competition, product life cycle and promotional strategies.
- Financial Plan – details current and projected budgets, cash flows and details as to any assets and liabilities.

- Management Plan – details of the structure of the organisation in terms of membership, board structure and staff employed – may include an organisation chart and constitution or other related legal documents relating to ownership of the business.
- Asset Management Plan – details of the assets owned by the organisation and plans and budgets for the maintenance. May also include long-term planning for future assets.
- Appendices – lists all documents that may be referred to in body of the business plan.

Business Plans are documents that require a significant amount of time, resources and expertise. They are more often developed by the commercial sector and well-resourced non-commercial organisations.

If your club is new to preparing a Business Plan we suggest that you keep it simple at first. The plan can grow and evolve over time as your organisation develops.

The City of Albany's 'Introduction to Business Planning' includes the following:

- Simple Strategic planning and action planning
- Asset Management planning
- Financial Management planning

As an introduction, it provides a basic framework and starting point for your club/association to:

- review your current governance practices
- review your asset management plans
- plan for successful financial management
- update your documentation and
- help your Executive committees to make great decisions

Who should be involved in the planning process?

Try to involve as many people in the planning process as possible. The more people who are consulted in the development of the plan, the more it will reflect the true direction of your organisation. Your members will also feel that the plan belongs to them and they will be more comfortable in assisting with its implementation.

A group of people should be invited to a planning meeting to brainstorm the basics of the plan. This group should be representative of:

- Board/ committee members
 - Sport participants (juniors, seniors, social, competitive)
 - Coaches
 - Officials
 - Parents
 - Volunteers
 - Paid staff
 - Facilities operators
 - Sponsors
 - Other stake-holders in your organisation
- Representative from your Local Government, i.e. Smart Club Officer.

After the planning meeting, the draft plan should be circulated as widely as possible to your members to make sure that it reflects their needs.

When should you plan?

You will need to set aside a specific time-slot in your schedule (perhaps 2- 3 short sessions) for your planning meeting. The meeting should be long enough to develop the basic framework of the plan so the duration will depend on the size and complexity of your club/ association. It is preferable this occurs during the pre-season (or off-season) so that your club starts their year with a clear direction.

The planning pathway

Form a planning committee

A small group of committed people should get the planning process under way and ensure the plan is implemented and reviewed regularly.

Hold a planning workshop

Invite a group of people (including administrators, coaches, officials, athletes, sponsors, facilities managers and councils Club Development and Funding Officer) to attend a planning meeting to develop the framework of the plan. A facilitator, or a person who is experienced in leading planning workshops, may assist your organisation to get the most out of the workshop.

Develop your plan

The planning committee or an entrusted individual writes up your plan. The pages provided in this document are a guide only and sections may be removed or added at the discretion of your planning committee. It is important to remember to keep it simple.

Consult with your members

- Make sure that your members understand your plans.
- Remember that it is their plan too.
- Make any necessary changes to the plan.

Promote your plan

- Make sure your new plan gets plenty of publicity – put it in your newsletter, send a copy to sponsors.
- It's your plan – you should be proud of it.
- The more you promote the plan, the more people will know about it and help you to implement it.

Deliver it

- There's no point in developing a plan that will gather dust on the shelves.
- Make your plan a 'living, breathing document' that helps people to get the job done.
- Ensure the plan is a set agenda item on your committee meetings
- Review it and modify it if necessary – it may not be exactly what you want or can achieve first time around.
- At least once a year, your planning committee should reconvene to review what has been achieved

Celebrate success

As strategies in the plan are achieved, let everyone know about it, no matter how small.

Signature Page

It is always important to ensure key personnel are committed to the plan. Empower them by encouraging their input into the planning process and signing this signature page once the contents are agreed upon.

SCORE Analysis

The SCORE analysis enables you to identify the strengths (S) and challenges (C) within your club/association and the opportunities (O) and risks (R) across the broader sector. SCORE is similar to a SWOT analysis, with an additional Ethical (E) consideration.

The SCORE analysis has three aims:

1. to help identify where the club/association is at;
2. to prepare the club/association to develop a plan that will utilise their strengths, manage their challenges, take advantage of opportunities and minimise any risks;
3. while working within a framework of the values of the club/association.

Almost every organisation displays at least 2-3 exceptional advantages (strengths) and disadvantages (challenges). The purpose of this step is to identify those internal elements that are so influential that they may affect the destiny of the club/association for many years, or may have played a significant role in the success or failure in the past.

Similarly, identifying the opportunities and risks is a similar process, except that the elements are not internal, but external. This analysis identifies the trends and events that are likely to have an impact on the club/association.

To assess the Ethical consideration ask the following question: Are there any issues of right, obligation, fairness, relationships or integrity involved? Consider in relation to the values of your club/association. (eg An opportunity for a junior soccer club may be a major sponsorship deal with a fast food chain with the reward of a 'pie and coke' after every game for every player. How does this sit ethically with your Executive Committee?)

Strengths (internal)

- What are the advantages of your club/ association?
- What do you do well? (what do you brag about?)
- What have been the highlights for your club?

Challenges (internal)

- What could be improved?
- What is done badly? (what's embarrassing?)
- What should be avoided?
- What should you be doing that you can't/don't do well?

Opportunities (external)

- What good choices are you facing?
- What are the next steps?
- What are the trends in your community?

Risks (external)

- What obstacles or threats do you face?
- What are other clubs/ associations doing? What are they planning?
- What other sports or activities may have an impact?
- What are your sponsors doing? What are their plans?
- Are the required specifications for your services changing?
- How is the demand for your services? Are your clients less satisfied or more satisfied?

Ethical - Are there any issues of right, obligation, fairness, relationships or integrity involved?
