Keep an eye out for 2015 Community Calendar

A free calendar containing important information about waste services and City of Albany facilities is set to be delivered to households in late December and early January.

The calendar has been produced to communicate important information to the community about waste services, recycling and green waste pick up dates; and other City of Albany services and facilities.

Members of the community are encouraged to keep an eye out for the calendar in their letter boxes and contact the City of Albany if one has not arrived by the end of January.

The full calendar is also available online at www.albany.wa.gov.au.

Albany Mayor Dennis Wellington said providing the calendar to the community was aligned with the City of Albany's strategic objectives to be Clean, Green and Sustainable, and to demonstrate Civic Leadership.
