Celebrate Seniors Week 2015 at the Library Tea and Technology

Would you like to access and navigate Government websites with confidence and be safe online?

If so, please join the Albany Public Library for their Tea and Technology workshops.

The City of Albany Mayor, Dennis Wellington said the Library is offering free interactive workshops for seniors during Seniors Week 2015.

“The workshops will take place in the Library and run for one hour sessions. This is a fantastic opportunity for seniors to learn more about technology with a cup of tea,” said the Mayor.

The sessions will explore websites including: MyGov (Centrelink, Medicare), Australian Passport Office, and the Police Department. The City of Albany and the Albany Public Library websites will be the focus of these sessions.

For further information and bookings please visit Library website, email library@albany.wa.gov.au or call us on 9841 9390. Bookings are essential for all workshops.

Members of the community are encouraged to join community for a morning tea to celebrate Seniors Week, on Friday 13 November at the Seniors Citizens Centre, 10am-11am (122 Grey St West, adjacent to the Town Hall).

Please RSVP for catering purposes to Library on: 9841 9390 or library@albany.wa.gov.au
