Date change for Wellstead Council Open Forum

The date of the next City of Albany Council Open Forum has been changed due to a clash with the upcoming public Anzac Forum.

The next Council Open Forum had been set for October 30 at the Wellstead Community Resource Centre, but will now be held on November 4 7pm at the same venue.

City acting chief executive Garry Adams apologised for the inconvenience and encouraged any interested residents in and around Wellstead to attend the forum on the new date.

“The quarterly Council Open Forums are attended by councillors and executive staff and are an excellent opportunity to encourage more direct and open communication between the City and residents,” he said.

The forums were introduced by Albany City Council at its March meeting as part of the City’s renewed focus on community engagement, which was identified as one of the priorities of the long-term Community Strategic Plan.

The first forum was held at Youngs Siding last month and was declared a success by all concerned.
