Cinema under the stars

Residents in outlying areas of the City of Albany will be able to enjoy a series of free outdoor movie nights, starting this Friday.

The City is hosting three rural cinema nights in April for outlying areas including Bornholm, Redmond and Wellstead.

Albany Mayor Dennis Wellington said the City was proud to be able to provide the free events.

“The City of Albany is made up of a number of separate communities over a wide area, and it’s important that we always remember that fact,” he said.

“City staff and Councillors are always very mindful of engaging and providing services to our outlying areas. We are very happy to be able to provide these free events.”

Screenings include:

- Friday April 4, Bornholm Community Hall grounds - 'RV' starring Robin Williams. Tea and coffee will be available. BYO other drinks and food.
- Saturday April 12, Redmond Community Hall - 'Night at the Museum' starring Ben Stiller. A sausage sizzle will be available, with proceeds going to the Redmond Progress Association. BYO drinks and other food.
- Sunday April 13, Wellstead Cricket Oval - 'Marley and Me' starring Jennifer Aniston. A sausage sizzle will be available on the night, with proceeds going to the Wellstead Progress Association. BYO drinks and other food.

All events start at 5.30pm, with screenings commencing at 6.30pm, so bring your deck chair, blankets and picnic baskets for a movie night under the stars.
