1 Introduction

1.1 Authority

This Recovery Plan has been prepared in accordance with Section 41(1) of the Emergency Management Act 2005 and State Emergency Management Policy 4.4, and forms part of the City of Albany Local Emergency Management Arrangements.

The Plan has been endorsed by the Albany Local Emergency Management Committee 17 March 2016 and approved by the City of Albany on 26 April 2016 (Item LEMC008).

1.2 Purpose

The purpose of the Local Recovery plan is to describe the arrangements for effectively managing recovery at a local level, including defining roles and responsibilities. It addresses the restoration of emotional, social, economic and physical wellbeing of a community, the reconstruction of infrastructure and the provision of support services following an emergency.

1.3 Objectives

The Plan will:

- Describe the roles, responsibilities, available resources and procedures for the management of recovery from emergencies for the City of Albany.
- Establish a basis for the coordination of recovery activities at the local level.
- Promote effective liaison between Hazard Management Agencies (HMA), emergency services and supporting agencies, which may become involved in recovery management.
- Provide a framework for recovery operations.

1.4 Scope

The scope of this recovery plan is limited to the boundaries of the City of Albany and forms a part of its Local Emergency Management Arrangements. It details the local recovery arrangements for the community.

Possible venues in which to establish a Local Recovery Coordination Centres in the City of Albany area have been identified and are included in the Emergency Contact and Resource Register.

3.3 Financial Arrangements

3.3.1 Insurance of Assets

The City of Albany has arrangements in place to insure its assets. Details of these arrangements are available in the City of Albany Summary of Insurances. Contact the Manager Governance & Risk Management for further details.

3.3.2 Internal Funding

The following arrangements have been made to fund recovery activities if necessary:

- The use of s.6.8(1)(b) or (c) of the Local Government Act 1995 - expenditure not included in the annual budget can be authorised in advance by an absolute majority decision of the Council, or by the mayor in an emergency and then reported to the next ordinary meeting of the Council.
- The use of s.6.11(2) to utilise a cash reserve established for another purpose, subject to one month's local public notice being given of the use for another purpose. Local Government (Financial Management) Regulations 1996 – regulation 18(a) provides an exemption from giving local public notice to change the use of money in a reserve where the mayor has authorised expenditure in an emergency. This would still require a formal decision of the Council before money can be accessed.
- The use of s.6.20(2) to borrow funds, subject to one month's local public notice of the proposal and exercising of the power to borrow by an absolute majority decision of the Council.

3.3.3 Financial Records

To ensure accurate records of costs associated with an emergency, the City has a specific cost centre to which all costs associated with the recovery process will be allocated.

3.3.4 External Funding

Westplan-Recovery Coordination outlines the States recovery funding arrangements.

Relief programs include:

- Disaster Recovery Funding Arrangements (DRFA-WA)
- Centrelink
- Lord Mayor's Distress Relief Fund (LMDRF)

3.3.5 Disaster Recovery Funding Arrangements (DRFA-WA)

The Disaster Recovery Funding Arrangements (DRFA) is an arrangement between the Commonwealth and states for funding in the event of a disaster.

The DRFA – WA are administered by the Department of Fire & Emergency Services (DFES). More information is available at <https://www.dfes.wa.gov.au/recovery/Pages/default.aspx>

To access funding under these arrangements, a disaster event must be deemed eligible. To be considered eligible it must be a natural disaster (bushfire, earthquake, flood, storm, cyclone, storm surge, landslide, tsunami, meteorite strike or tornado) or a terrorist act for which:

- a coordinated and multi-agency response was required; and
- state expenditure exceeds the small disaster criterion (which is $240,000 and does not include insurance related expenditure).

There are four categories of funding assistance:

- Category A – emergency assistance for individuals (generally administered by Department of Communities in WA).
- Category B – emergency assistance for the repair of essential public assets and to support primary producers and small businesses to recover from a disaster event.

- Category C – a community recovery package that is intended to support a holistic approach to the recovery of regions, communities or sectors severely affected by an eligible disaster.
- Category D – covers ‘exceptional circumstances’, in the opinion of the Commonwealth to alleviate distress or damage.

DFES Disaster Recovery Funding Officers can be contacted via email on drfawa@dfes.wa.gov.au

3.3.7 Public Appeals – Lord Mayor’s Distress Relief Fund (LMDRF)

All cash donations resulting from public appeals should be directed to the LMDRF, as detailed in SEMP 4.4 Recovery Coordination. Calls for public donations to assist with any emergency should be initiated by the Board of the LMDRF. Such calls may be either on the initiative of the Board itself or by the Board in consultation with any Government or statutory body. The commencement of an appeal fund does not override the statutory obligations, on the part of various government agencies, to provide welfare, relief and reconstruction assistance to those affected by emergencies.

5 Communications in Recovery

5.1 Principles of Recovery Communications

Effective communications is a key principle of disaster recovery and critical to facilitating community involvement. An affected community has a right to all information relevant to its recovery.

During emergencies, established communication channels can be disrupted, which may result in disaster-affected people feeling disconnected and isolated from their families, friends, existing community networks and services.

People affected by disaster are often overwhelmed by large amounts of information and as a result their ability to take in information, think about it and remember it can be impacted.

During recovery, standard communication principles will apply but there will be additional considerations including the following key principles:

Assist the community by providing relevant, clear and timely information

Ensure the information is presented in a way that is clear and free of jargon. Short, sharp amounts of relevant and practical information are most useful. By consulting with the community it is possible to establish what people actually want to know, i.e. what is happening with recovery, how they can access support and who to contact should they have any questions.

Target communications and utilise appropriate methods of communication for all audiences

Ensure your communication fits the audience; by knowing your audience and the best way to reach them. Work in conjunction with the community and individuals and utilise existing networks and strengths. Respect the community by ensuring communication is culturally appropriate.

Communications to be accessible

Ensure that information is accessible to audiences in diverse situations, addresses a variety of communication needs and is addressed through a variety of media and channels;

Reiterate key messages and re-communicate regularly

After and during an emergency people can have trouble remembering information. It is important to reiterate and re-communicate information periodically throughout the recovery process.

Acknowledge the impact to help validate people's experiences

It is important to allow people affected by an emergency to acknowledge and validate their experiences.

5.2 Roles and Responsibilities

5.2.1 Response Phase

The organisational responsibilities of communicating during emergencies are defined in Westplan - Emergency Public Communications.

- The controlling agency will manage the emergency public information function during the response phase of the emergency. The controlling agency may appoint a Public Information Officer (PIO).
- The controlling agency will also manage the public information function during the recovery phase of the emergency, unless and until that function is handed over to the local government.
- Hazard management agencies may address the public and the media only on matters for which they are responsible and in which they have expertise.

- Agencies shall consider the communication needs of people with disabilities and culturally and linguistically diverse (CALD) elements within the particular community affected by the emergency.

5.2.2 Recovery Phase

- The City of Albany Communications Manager, in liaison with the LRC, will manage the public information during the recovery phase of the emergency when control has been handed over from the controlling agency.
- All communication activities will be carried out in accordance with the City of Albany Community Engagement Policy.

5.2.3 Media Engagement

The Communications Manager has delegated authority under the City of Albany Register of Delegations of Authority, ref 2015:003, to “Prepare, produce and distribute City information, media releases, publications and make comment, with the condition that comment is limited to matters relating to functions of the CEO, defined by the Act”.

5.3 Communications Plan

Refer to Appendix 3 for a Communication Plan template.

The information that needs to be communicated in the early phases of the recovery process depends upon the characteristics of the event in terms of type, location, severity and effects on the community.

The communication plan should address the following:

5.3.1 Who needs the information?

This involves determining the target audience within identified stakeholders.

Broad groups of stakeholders include:

- members of the affected community
- groups and agencies involved in recovery
- elected members
- media
- people with special needs (Refer LEMA Special Needs Groups).

5.3.2 What is to be communicated – key messages?

The broad categories of information that need to be communicated in the recovery process include:

- What has happened.
- What recovery is likely to involve
- What plans are in place for the well-being of the community.
- What services and resources are available.
- Information which will assist the community to effect recovery

5.3.3 How is the message communicated?

The available communications methods should be considered including:

- community meetings
- printed materials – e.g. newsletters, pamphlets, flyers, brochures
- notice boards at public buildings
- posters / billboards (including mobile SAM billboards)

- website (City of Albany and other agencies)
- media including radio, print and TV
- social media
- email and text messaging
- word of mouth.

5.3.4 Where is the message communicated?

Information can be provided in a range of locations and settings including:

- any place where people naturally congregate (churches, shopping centres, schools, community halls, sporting facilities etc.)
- disaster site (if safe to do so)
- reception or assembly points
- evacuation and recovery centers
- outreach programs
- community information forums
- community events

5.3.5 When is the message communicated?

Information must be provided to affected communities in a timely manner. The timing of messages is to be included in the communication plan.

5.3.6 Feedback Strategy

Obtaining feedback ensures two-way communications is taking place. Two-way communication involves the sharing of perspectives, beliefs, and positions between interested parties, and between an emergency recovery agency and its stakeholders. Building a feedback strategy into the communications plan is important to ensure the communication being provided is beneficial to the community. Feedback can be obtained from the community in a number of ways:

- Include council contact details on all communications (email, telephone number, web address)
- Have feedback and evaluation systems integrated into all communications
- Gather data from community meetings, via note taking and face to face
- Talk to staff and volunteers that are returning from the affected area to ensure information and knowledge is transferred

5.4 Community & Stakeholder Engagement

Stakeholders are those who may affect, be affected by, or perceive themselves to be affected by an emergency event or the emergency recovery process. In other words, stakeholders are those people or groups who have a legitimate interest in the emergency recovery operation. It is important to be as inclusive as possible.

City of Albany community engagement activities during recovery aims to

- recognise that communication with a community should be two-way and that input and feedback should be sought and considered over an extended time;
- ensure the use of best practice community engagement including: inclusiveness, commitment, building relationships and mutual respect, integrity, transparency and accountability, feedback; and evaluation.

- ensure early engagement with clear and consistent information to hasten and promote the recovery process and provide community the opportunity to address issues.

5.4.1 Community Engagement Plan

Successful engagement with a community can act as a type of community development; empowering the community and individuals to understand and influence their recovery, increase social cohesion and assist in rebuilding the social fabric of the group that has undergone significant dislocation.

In the later phases of recovery, when decisions are made that will have significant community impact, such as those regarding the rebuilding of an affected community, the City of Albany Community Engagement Staff Toolkit should be utilised by the LRC, in liaison with the Communication Manager and Stakeholder Relations Manager to:

- Identify stakeholders (internal and external).
- Determine the appropriate level of stakeholder engagement based on the size, impact and complexity of the emergency event.
- Establish a communication plan that identifies what information needs to be disseminated and possible communication channels and venues.

5.5 Community Information Briefings and Debriefings

Community meetings can be an excellent means of communicating recovery information to and from an affected community during varying stages of the recovery process. If well planned and actively managed, they can be useful in providing information, gathering concerns, dispelling rumour and correcting misconceptions.

In the event of a major incident, community information meetings are often held jointly by emergency services, local governments and State government departments.

Community briefings provide:

- clarification of the emergency event (controlling agency)
- advice on services available (recovery agencies)
- input into the development of management strategies (local government)
- advice to affected individuals on how to manage their own recovery, including the provision of public health information (specialist advisers)

5.5.1 Purpose and Objectives

The purpose of the meeting must be clearly defined and communicated. Community meetings that are not well planned and are hazy about their objectives have a high potential to go awry and degenerate into a forum blame-laying and complaint.

The objectives of community meetings depend on the stage of recovery that the community has reached at the time of the meeting. However, the objectives should always include raising or maintaining the profile of the recovery effort and assisting the community towards recovery.

5.5.2 Planning the Meeting

In planning public meetings, the following should be taken into account:

- Who is running the meeting? (local authority, emergency management organisation, recovery agency)
- the objectives of the meeting, the agenda to be addressed, the process of conducting the meeting, the speakers (including local identities) and their subject matter

- the availability of personnel to address issues after the meeting
- the process for expressions of concern or complaint by attendees
- advertisement of the venue, date and time, purpose, patronage, speakers and complaint process
- strategies to deal with and follow up expressions of concern or complaint and further meetings/arrangements
- management issues
- the needs of vulnerable groups.

5.5.3 Conducting the Meeting

Public meetings should:

- be held at a neutral venue (if possible)
- have a strong, independent but fair and non-defensive chair
- have representatives from emergency-related disciplines to give factual information
- address the psychosocial issues as well as physical aspects of recovery
- have a pre-determined finishing time
- allow for a review of the meeting and its effect on the recovery process
- follow up issues raised and prepare report-back for subsequent meetings.

Regardless of the success or otherwise of the meeting, every effort should be made to conclude the meeting on a note of optimism for the early and successful recovery of the community.

Background Information

- This community engagement plan aims to provide a tool for City of Albany staff to determine the appropriate level of community engagement during recovery from an emergency event and identifies key stakeholders and available communication and media channels.

Scope

- This plan pertains to communication and community engagement activities undertaken during the recovery phase of an emergency event. It does not cover emergency warnings or communications undertaken during the response phase.
- Scope locations - all areas of the Albany municipality.

Identifying the level of community engagement

This plan is prepared for use in an early disaster recovery situation and addresses initial communication requirements for this phase. Timeframes are not stipulated as this is to be assessed on day 1 of recovery and reviewed each week. The communications and engagement requirements in the recovery phases may be long lasting and change over time. This initial engagement plan is to be reviewed as recovery progresses. On-going community development work is likely to be required during recovery from a major disaster.

The table below defines the four levels of community engagement that can be utilised by the City during the recovery from an emergency event. The level of community engagement will depend on the stage of the recovery process. Early recovery will focus on the need to disseminate information to effected communities and is likely to utilise the Inform and Consult levels of engagement. Long term recovery and on-going community development work is more likely to utilise the Involve and Collaborate levels of engagement.

Level of engagement	Description	Promise to stakeholders
Inform	One way communication providing timely, relevant, clear, accurate, credible and consistent information to assist understanding about something that has happened or is going to happen.	We will keep you informed with information about the disaster.
Consult	Two way communications designed to obtain public feedback about community needs and concerns and proposals to inform decision making.	We will keep you informed, listen to and acknowledge concerns and provide feedback on how your input influenced the decision.
Involve	Participatory process designed to help identify issues and views to ensure that concerns and aspirations are understood and considered prior to decision making.	We will work with you to ensure that your concerns and aspirations are directly reflected in the alternatives developed and provide feedback on how your input influenced the decision.
Collaborate	Working together with stakeholders to understand all issues and interests and to work out alternatives and identify preferred solutions.	We will look to you for direct advice and innovation in formulating solutions and incorporate these into the decisions to maximum extent possible.

Stakeholder Identification

Stakeholders are those who may affect, be affected by, or perceive themselves to be affected by an emergency event or the emergency recovery process. In other words, stakeholders are those people or groups who have a legitimate interest in the emergency recovery operation. There will be differences of opinion on who should be included as stakeholders but it is important to be as inclusive as possible.

It is important to identify stakeholders and to realize that the emergency recovery operation does not choose the stakeholders they choose themselves. If a group is overlooked initially, it is likely they will emerge later and benefits of early consultation will be missed. Further, inappropriate or ineffective communication can serve to exacerbate emergency conditions, particularly for non-vocal groups thereby creating inequity and/or prolonging recovery for disengaged groups.

* Compulsory at this level of engagement.

You MUST create an action plan for complex projects, have you completed and attached? Yes No

Please Note: When creating your timeline, it is highly recommended that you consider that if your project is complex, it will take a longer period for an item to go through Council (sometimes twice) and to meet land use or zone changes legislation which states a consultation period of up to 41 days.

Outcome

The community needs to know the outcome of the project. The City of Albany has an obligation to advise the community at the end of a project/activity/event. You must undertake a de-brief and advise the community of the outcomes, successes and celebrate the end by closing the loop in communication.

Level of engagement	Technique	Due Date
Inform	Advice on recovery program status	tbc
Inform	Media Release – status and next steps, acknowledgement of community input, agency collaborations.	Within a week of recovery process end
Consult	De-brief/acknowledgment and lessons learnt	Within a week of the recovery process
Inform	Report to the LEMC/LRC	Within a month of the end of the recovery process

Evaluation and feedback

- How are you going to evaluate the project? It is important to evaluate how the project went, was the best techniques used, etc? This could be in the form of a debrief or a community satisfaction survey.

Accessibility

Will the information you are providing be accessible to the whole community, including people with a disability?

Yes No

If you are unsure speak to the Stakeholder Relations Manager.

If you are holding consulting in a physical location, is it assessable by all, including people with disabilities?

Yes No

Is the engagement designed so that people with disabilities can be involved?

Yes No

Is the engagement designed to consider the Traditional Custodians of the land?

Yes No

If Yes, see the Senior land Officer for referral.

If you are planning to display information about your project in community spaces, have you considered working with other staff or agencies to hold a combined event or expo?

Yes No

If you would like to review resources, samples and additional tools to assist you with your project, see the Stakeholder Relations Manager. Please ensure a budget is attached to this plan.

Step 5 – Approval of Community Engagement Plan

If the project is highly complex or politically sensitive it must be signed off by the CEO.
